

Grand jury investigation set to learn WHO FATHERED TWINS BORN TO GIRL, 10

Couple awarded $6.5 million from GM in car crash case

Claim part failed on '75 Buick

WASHINGTON—A federal court jury here last week ordered the General Motors Corp. to pay $6.5 million to a Washington couple as damages for a 1975 car accident that left the woman paralyzed from the neck down. The auto maker was liable in the case, the jury found, because a key joint snapped on the 1975 Buick Electra that Georgia Hall was driving on Sept. 29, 1975, sending her and the car careening down an embankment before the automobile smashed into a tree. The 32-year-old woman spent eight months in a hospital after the accident. Since then, she has been confined to her bed or a wheelchair and has to be assisted like a newborn baby, according to testimony in the case and an unusual 20-minute film depicting her life as an invalid that was shown to the jury.

The woman's 42-year-old husband, Edward Hall, was ebullient when the jury announced the award after deliberating just 35 minutes.

"I'm shocked, over jubilant," said Hall, who once was a Washington, D.C. cab driver but has cared for his wife on a virtual 24-hour-a-day schedule since the accident.

Hall, who sleeps in two-hour stretches at night so that he can get up and adjust his wife's limp body to make her more comfortable, said his wife exclaimed, "Oh, my God!" when he told her of the verdict, one of the largest ever awarded.

After listening to two weeks of testimony in late April and early May and returning last week to hear more testimony on the amount of the damages the six-member jury determined that GM was liable for damages in the case.

GM lawyer Aubrey M. Daniel, III said the car manufacturer disputes the findings that the drive shaft assembly on the Electra was defective and will appeal the verdict.

Larry Buick said it was about $700,000.

If the $6.5 million judgement is upheld, the $700,000 would eventually be subtracted and GM would then be liable for $5.8 million.

Margolls and Kamerow refused to say how much their share of the award would be. However, court sources said that lawyers in Washington routinely receive one-third of personal damage awards, meaning that the lawyers would get $2,167,000.

In his closing argument, Margolls said that the cost of past medical bills and other care for Mrs. Hall as well as for her future medical and household care over the next 25 years, amounts to nearly $1.8 million.

He asked the jury for a $10 million overall award for Mrs.

Hall and $2 million for her husband. The jury awarded $5 million to Mrs. Hall and $1.5 million to her husband.

Mrs. Hall testified from a wheelchair as her husband held a portable microphone in front of her. In whispered voice she told the jury that she has not improved since the accident.

The film, narrated from the witness stand by her husband, showed the life of a quadriplegic in gripping terms.

"Here I am attaching a leg bag to the catheter and the urine goes into this bag here," Hall said as the film showed him assisting his wife. The film also showed Hall bathing his wife, helping her get dressed, hoisting her in a net and then into her wheelchair, brushing

Police say prosecution 'very possible'

Medical phenomena or not, authorities are looking in to the unique birth of twins by a 10-year-old girl for possible "serious" criminal offenses, intending to launch a full scale investigation.

That was the assurance Wednesday from Atty. Richard A. [Drew] Young, Marion County Deputy Prosecutor in charge of child abuse, who says the case could involve not only cruelty to the youngster but statutory rape.

"The case will definitely be turned over to the Grand Jury for possible criminal action if they can determine who the father is," Young said. "This is most unusual and we're going to look into it."

Since the school-age mother reportedly hails from a large family, Young says it's his office's duty to determine whether any of the other youngsters have been "victimized" and protect them.

Indiana law stipulates that any adult having sexual relations with a minor even a consenting one is guilty of statutory rape, and subsequent conviction carries a stiff prison penalty.

Though the history-making delivery was May 22, authorities were hampered in their efforts by a lack of cooperation from Indiana University Hospital, according to Captain David Elmore who heads Police Department Juvenile Aid Division.

It's understandable the hospital was reluctant to release the girl's name because of her minor status, but Captain Elmore felt they should've because of the crime aspect. IUH heads finally relented and have agreed to offer all the assistance they can, according to the officer.

Scattered rumors almost impossible to pinpoint hint the twin girls might have been fathered by a relative. The mother released over the weekend has reportedly returned to

Black judge 'sock-ets' Sears

CHICAGO (NPA)—Black U.S. District Judge George Leighton, last week handed down a $60 million award against Sears, Roebuck and Company to a 34-year-old white inventor who designed a socket wrench while working for the firm.

Judge Leighton, brother-in-law of John H. Murphy, III, chairman of the board of Afro-American newspapers, has canceled the $10,000 contract inventor Peter Roberts made with Sears following the patenting of the invention 16 years ago. The inventor is now entitled to all profits Sears has made on the wrench, according to the judge. Sears is appealing the decision.

They were chosen because of outstanding contributions to Freemasonry or for significant service to others reflecting credit to the Fraternity.

Released on reduced bond

Hit-and-run suspect chased, caught by neighbors on foot

For eight-year-old Lisa Rene Lowery, 415 N. Highland, who died instantly after being struck by a car in the 300 block of Oriental Street, "being young and in the inner city didn't mix." On the other hand, "mixing driving and drinking might get over..." for a 26-year-old white man arrested in the hit-and-run death of the Lowery girl.

These words came from angry friends and neighbors, some of whom converged on Indianapolis Police Headquarters Wednesday to protest the release of Beau Andrew Bunting, 3359 Lester, who was charged down on foot, police said. Bunting was booked at Police headquarters at 10:13 p.m. and sent to City Lock Up and charged on four counts.

However, when Bunting appeared in Municipal Court 10 before Judge Richard Saller, his bond was reduced to $5,000 ($500 drunken driving; $2,000 involuntary manslaughter; $2,000 reckless homicide; and $500 leaving the scene of a crime). He was released on bail on the four surety bonds by Surety Bond company.

Friends and neighbors of the victim claimed, though they asked not to be identified, say they feel that "because the boy is white" he was able to receive a reduced bond.

Bunting's case was continued until sometime later this month, according to police investigators. Officer Rosen, bargainer is the Investigating Officer in the Lowery Bunting case.

The victim's funeral services will be held Saturday 11:00 a.m. at St. Mary's Mortuary with burial to be at New Crown Cemetery. The body can be viewed at St. Mary's Friday from 4 to 6 p.m.

She is survived by her mother, Jodie Parson, father Mickey Robinson, Sr., brothers Mickey Robinson, Jr., and Antonio Lowery, grandmother, Pearl Lowery and Annie Mae Nichols, and grandfather W.L. Nichols.

Raid on Nite Flite one of summer series, say police

Word from local authorities is, raids designed to reduce underage drinking and rowdiness in the near liquor establishments will become a "regular thing around town" this summer.

Nite Flite's Disco Lounge, 3700 block of N. Keystone, and establishments adjacent to the lounge, became the first of the planned surprise raids during the summer, as police rounded more than 40 persons up Tuesday. It resulted in nearly half being hauled to the city lockup in a jail bus, under arrest for liquor law violations and loitering.

Police charged 20 persons in the club found to be under 21 years of age, with violation of the 1935 Beverage Act. Two others were similarly charged. Another 22 persons were issued summonses for loitering, however not carried to police headquarters as prisoners.

Indianapolis Police Department vice and narcotics undercover agents, Adam and Edward sector uniform patrolmen, and Indiana State Excise Police—under the coordination of vice-branch commander, Captain Mack Crockett, conducted the raid.

At approximately 10:30 p.m. Tuesday, police prepared for their move on the disco lounge, via a meeting in the nearby Meadows Shopping Center. The raid was spurred by a review of police files listing complaints toward the lounge, which showed numerous calls to the address or nearby area because of crowds frequently at either Keystone or 38th streets.

Searches were made during the raid and some 200 patrons and persons loitering around the disco's property, parking lots and sidewalks. Authorities confiscated from most of those arrested false identification which listed ages of those patrons as at least 21.

In explaining that Nite Flite was the first in a series of raids planned for this summer to help eliminate underage drinking and visiting liquor establishments, Crockett said police want to "nip in the bud," attempts by college-age students to violate liquor laws using phony or borrowed identifications.

Policewoman settles family dispute; saves partner too

DETROIT, Michigan—Detroit policewoman, Cynthia Thomas, fatally wounded a man last Friday evening on the city's east side as he tried to wrestle a service revolver from her scout car partner.

In what began as a police call to settle a family dispute, the 32-year-old officer involved in the struggle for the weapon was also shot in the arm and is in fair condition in Holy Cross Hospital at Recorder Press deadline.

Dead is James Hampton, 30, who was shot in the neck by patrolwoman Thomas. Hampton is black; injured officer William Yamin is white.

Police said the deadly series of events unfolded at 11:30 p.m. after the two officers arrived at the scene, 13547 Dequindre, the home of Hampton's ex-wife.

Hampton, reportedly, grabbed the arm of his ex-wife, the officers then separated the couple who apparently were standing outside the house. Hampton then struck officer Yamin in the face with his fist, and a scuffle began, with the two men falling to the ground, according to the police report.

During the struggle for the pistol Yamin was shot in the arm. Officer Thomas then fired the fatal shot, striking Hampton in the neck. He died in Ford Hospital.

"It was justified," said Sgt. Jack Loshaw, of the Detroit Homicide Section, which investigates all police shootings. "I would hope my partner would react the same way for me in that type of situation."

BY THE WAY...

The past two decades have added to the vocabularies of people and dictionaries. We've had expressions such as "right on", "cool", "dig", "what's happening", "get down", "back lash", and "brother". But in Black America, I believe the strongest articulations were "freedom", "Black Power", "I'm Black and I'm Proud", and "I have a dream." When we utter these words, do we take the time to wonder what we are saying, or do we merely use an expression so that others will think that we are "hip"?

I know that many of us have used the greeting, "hello brothers and sisters", but do we really treat one another as a brother or sister? While you are pondering that question, let me suggest a way that we can help one another. In April, 1980, the U.S. Census will again count the number of people living in this country. Every Black person must be counted and should encourage their friends and neighbors to give honest answers to the Census takers. Sure, I know that some of the questions make you think that the government is being super "nosey", but we must remember that the government is made up of several agencies that provide money for many of the programs that were created to help the minority group communities and less fortunate citizens. Remember! If you aren't counted, you may be the reason why your state does not have enough money for job training projects, adequate low cost housing, health care services, day care centers, emergency food and medical aid, or welfare assistance. Let's all promise to be our "brother's brother."

P.S. No. 48 honors sixth graders

The graduating 6th grade class of Louis B. Russell Jr. School #48 is a special class for the school. It marks the first class of children who began their schooling at School #48 in 1972 when the school was opened and have remained at the school since kindergarten. Louis B. Russell, Jr. School No. 48 is located at 3445 N. Central Avenue. This site was formerly the College Life Insurance Co. School No 46 is an outgrowth of School No 60. The children and many of the teachers were transferred from No. 60. The children and many of the teachers were transferred from No. 60 when the transition was made.

The school was dedicated officially the Louis B. Russell, Jr. School on Sunday, May 16, 1976. The school had not been named until this year. He was the world's longest heart transplant recipient, at the time of his death.

School No.48 is an open Concept School with grades kindergarten through six. It is also a title school. Our educational philosophy strongly embraces the concept of the Board of School Commissioners, that education has a responsibility to educate the learner so that he/she can function at his/her best both as an individual and in a society.

Special programs are being planned to mark this class's achievement. The children being honored are: Kimberly Akers, Kim Barbee, Yvonne Bell, David Berryhill, Foriest Bigbee, Kimberly Bradgerry, Henry Davis, Jason Flowers, Deborah Nelson, Andrea Person, Michael Smith, Darryl Taylor and Lisa Wooden.

Damian Neeld and I have had the special privilege this year of working with a very talented and motivated group of six graders. We believe that special opportunities should be presented to these students to enhance their overall education and to provide them with beneficial experiences so richly deserved.

It should be noted that students in this sixth grade class were the first kindergarten students enrolled in School No. 48. Many of these youngsters have been in this school for their entire school life. We believe that these students have been afforded the best educational opportunities possible. We are very proud of our sixth graders and know that this pride is shared the staff of School No. 48 said Ms. Shirley Carter, sixth grade teacher.

Mrs. Estelle Relford, Principal of Louis B. Russell School #48 is also acknowledging the eight teachers who have taught at this school building since its opening in September of 1972 under the leadership of Mrs. Dorothy Habig, principal. Parker School pupils look into career kalidescope

The 401 pupils of Francis W. Parker Elementary School (I.P.S. #56) enjoyed a beautiful day of observing, discussing and participating in a career awareness program that was the culminating activity for a year's study of careers in the contemporary age.

The theme of the 1979 Career Day was "DEVELOPING CAREER APPRECIATION THROUGH CAREER AWARENESS." Pupils from Kindergarten through Grade 8 enjoyed the more than thirty-eight presenters, as they covered nineteen different career areas as define by the U.S. Department of Labor.

The program for the day was coordinated by Mrs. Doris Wood, Title I Counselor at School #56. This was Mrs. Wood's fifth Career Day program at Parker School where this project has become an annual event that is looked forward to by community persons, parents, pupils, and staff. Assisting Mrs. Wood were Miss Mary Beth Lenart, Jr. High Guidance Counselor both of whom coordinated the activities for the junior high pupils.

Presentors and participants received a Career Day booklet containing the schedule of events by hours and by rooms along with other pertinent information to provide the reader with a knowledge of the types of skills and services shown in the display areas.

The cover for the souvenir booklet was designed by Eugene Williams, an eighth grade pupil at Parker School.

Husbands of staff members added to the day by presenting information and giving demonstrations in their respective lines of work. Mr. Don Miller, husband of Mrs. Kathy Miller, presented the fun side and the factual side of being a magician. Mr. David Christopherson, husband of Mrs. Janine Christopherson gave demonstrations of substance changes due to chemical processes as he did various experiments illustrating chemical engineering.

Dr. Joel Rifkind, husband of Mrs. Terry Rifkind used charts, models and dental instruments to inform the pupils of the importance and proper care of the oral cavity.

At eleven forty five, the pupils went to Douglas Park to see the final event of the morning, a helicopter demonstration. Special arrangements had been made with the Indianapolis Airport Authority for this event to take place.

Mr. Norris Archer who had made a presentation on the careers involved in air transportation at the school, received the children at the park and explained the helicopter and its many functions to them. This was followed by an air demonstration for the children, neighbors and community persons.

After seeing the helicopter and waving "Good bye" to the pilot and Mr. Archer and to the Indianapolis Police Department Safety personnel on hand to help with the operation, pupils were given a choice of eating lunch in the park or going back to school. Some chose to eat at the park or going back to school.

Having this kind of choice was a very special event in itself. While the children to the visitors and the staff members who did not accompany the children to the park had what has come to be known as "A Parker School Fabulous Feast." On the Career Day of each year, the staff shows its appreciation to the visiting presenters by providing them with a luncheon of gourmet dishes prepared by the staff members.

Each person prepares their favorite dish. This is one more of the "from the heart" activities that make Francis W. Parker Elementary School a very special place in the Indianapolis community. This year's luncheon was coordinated by Miss Brenda Frazier, Junior High Language Arts teacher and she assisted by Mrs. Ruth Davis, teacher of Options: Traditional, Grade 1.

Every staff person helped to make this a day to be remembered by every child as wonderful day and a prediction of things to come in their world of the future as they looked into the Career Kalidescope.

CALIFORNIA GRAD: Gregory Bellman, fraternal grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Bellman Sr., graduated from Serra High School in Cardina, California on the second of June. He excels in sports, mainly football. He hopes to continue his excellence when he further his education at San Diego State College this fall. Mathaline Bellman of Indianapolis attended the ceremonies in Gardina.

MRS. LOVIE HOCKERSON

Mrs. Lovie Brown Hockerson, 71, 2235 Northwestern, who died May 29 in Wishard Hospital, was buried in Crown Hill Cemetery June 2, following services at Nothside New Era Baptist Church. She was born in Jackson, Tenn., was the widow of Johnnie Hockerson, and was a member of Nothside New Era, residing in this city two years. Survivors: sister, Ms. Vinnie Edwards; brother, Willie Hutcherson of Murphysboro, Ill. and George Brown of Chicago.

Christopherson works for Olin Corp. Mrs. Augustine Pemberton, follow-through aide, makes sure everything is in place.

IF YOU DON'T mind the mess, it's a fun job! Mark Gailbraith, demonstrator from the Metropolitan Arts Council, seems to be telling these first grade pupils at P.S. #56 during the recent Career Day.

JAMES W. SHAW

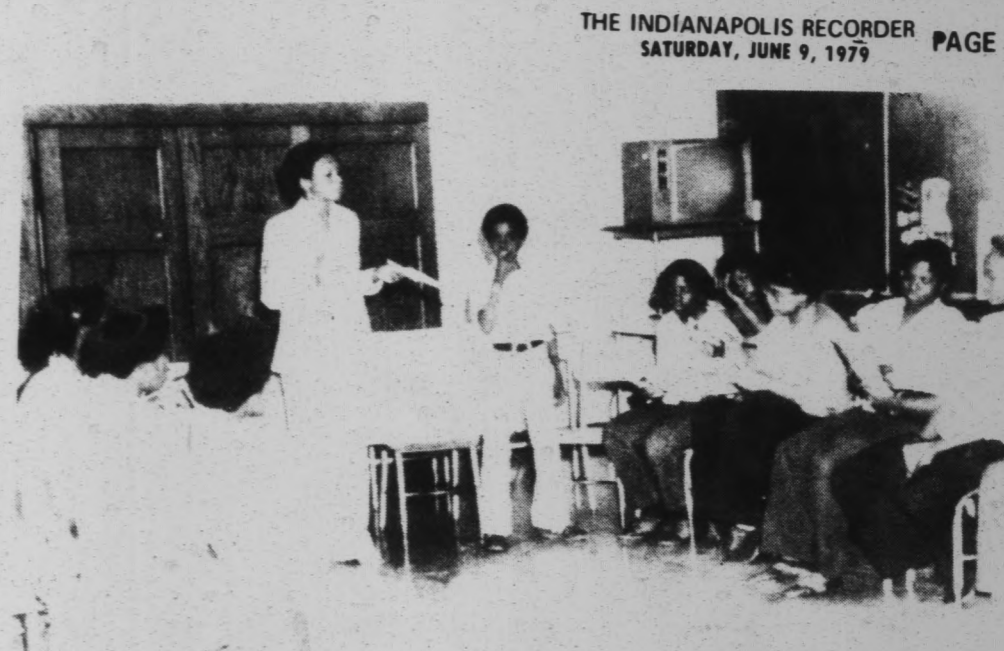

Memorial services for James Wesley Shaw, 68, 3616 Manor Court, were conducted June 1 in Willis Mortuary, with burial in Washington Park North Cemetery. Senior fashions

Often when we think of fashion, we unconsciously exclude our senior citizens.

Recently Hawthorne Center was the scene of the Indiana Senior Citizens' Fashion Show. The centers were: Christamore house, Concord Hawthorne and Mary Ruge. Models were senior citizens from all four centers.

All clothing and accessories were designed and constructed by the seniors.

The theme of the show was "Three Days in May," and the fashions were representative of the activities that are given during the month of May in the city.

FASHION HINT: Old ties can be cut in half with the thin end being wrapped around the neck one time and secured with a fashionable pin. The thick half can be worn in the upper jacket pocket for that extra touch of class.

BREEZING FASHIONS: The Defiants Club are sponsoring "Summer Breezes of Fashions 1979" Sunday, June 10th at 2:00 p.m. 10:00 p.m. at St. Peter Church. That's the setting for a dynamic fashion extravaganza to be arranged and emceed by Mrs. Mary Ann Dickerson. Mrs. Sharon Brown, coordinator, and Mr. Mike Bryson. Tickets may be purchased from any club member or at Mary Ann's Salt and Pepper Salon, 4842 N. College. The Fashion Show will breeze you by in the Disco Style, with the latest fashions modeled by some of Indy's best.

Brilliance of red and Spring touch

According to the beauty experts at Flori Roberts, now is the perfect time to dip into the brilliant reds and smoky silvers, to brighten your night-life and rid yourself of the doldrums.

For lips, try a dazzling, perfect red, color-balanced to blend with most every skin tone. Use a gloss over it, in the same spicy red shade, to intensify and polish the color. If you have uneven lip tone, a common problem with Black women, try applying a lip base coat first to help even the tone. The apply lipstick and lip polish as usual.

Coordinate the "high chic" look with nails done in the same razzle dazzle red.

For cheeks, try red with frosty undertones that add sheen under disco lights, and never fade out in dimly lit places. You'll get the best results if you apply color just under the cheekbone, blending out to hairline and up a bit.

For eyes, try the newest technique of rimming them with color. Use a smudgy cake eyeliner for a sexy effect. Cover the lid with frosty silver, and then add a dap of spice red in the crease. Sensational!

High Chic makeup is coordinated in a special 6-piece collection that includes Touching Parfume Spray. This limited offering is priced at $6.50 with any $6 Flori Roberts purchase, and is available in leading department stores throughout the country.

volunteers big help to IMA

Eighteen hundred volunteers contributed more than $1.1 million in time, contributed services, and art purchase funds to the Indianapolis Museum of Art during '78.

Robert A. Yassin, Museum director, reported the significant total on the eve of a volunteer "thank you" party, Sat., June 2, when the outdoor terraces of the Museum will be transformed for an elegant dance under the stars.

More than 900 of the volunteers have accepted the invitation to dance to Al Cobine's 16 piece orchestra from 8 to 11 p.m. The party this week is the first time the Museum has hosted a single event honoring all of the volunteers.

Volunteers actually contributed some 75,000 hours of time worth approximately $217,500 while working in virtually every area of the Museum's operations. In addition, volunteers assisted the staff in raising $929,606 from a variety of sources in support of the Museum's $2.5 million annual operating budget.

Volunteers were found in every area of the Museum including the Museum shops, photography and conservation laboratories, the print room, the library, the greenhouses, the grounds staff, and the Lilly Pavilion of Decorative Arts, as well as the Operating Fund and in a number of clerical and technical positions.

Father officiates daughter's vows

UNITED IN Holy Matrimony last Saturday was the former Mrs. Brenda Elaine Washington. She bowed Phillip Glenn Taylor.

"We've Only Just Begun" and "I'm So Into You" were the themes which set the mood for the uniting of the former Brenda Elaine Washington and Phillip Glenn Taylor in holy matrimony Saturday, June 2nd at First Samuel Missionary Baptist Church.

The two solos were beautifully sung by soloist Marcia Washington, who was accompanied by Ruth Townsend. Rev. William S. Washington, the bride's father, was officiating clergyman.

The bride, attired her full length white gown decorated with blue and white roses and daisies was escorted down the aisle by her grandfather, Mr. Leroy Foster.

The double ring ceremony, which was most beautifully designed by the bride and her mother, was decorated courtesy of Shadeland Florace and catered by KIDD Catering.

The former Miss Washington is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. William S. Washington. The new husband is the son of Joseph and Martaa Taylor.

Matron of honor for the gala affair was Mrs. Linda M. Coeiman, while Helen Scott, Stephanie Harris and Edith Taylor, the groom's sisters were the bridesmaids, similarly attired in blue gowns.

Flowergirl, Aliha McCullough's gown was also blue. Ring bearer were Jackie Coleman Jr. and Jermaine Coleman, and Joseph Taylor was the best man. Marvin Taylor, Chester Washington and Terry Greenway ushered the delightful wedding and the reception, which immediately followed the ceremonies at the church. Joyce McCullough and Marsha Washington were hostesses for the reception.

The new Mrs. Taylor is a Washington High School graduate and also attended classes at IUPUI. She is presently Host Secretary at Methodist Hospital.

Her new husband, a Broad Ripple grad, attended ITT Technical Institute and is also employed at Methodist.

Black woman: a time for anger!

By BETTY J. BLAIR and RUTH SEYMOUR

Michele Wallace is trying to stir black women to anger: Anger at being expected to be always strong and supportive. Anger at being accused of emasculating the black man whenever she asserts herself and calls attention to her own needs. Anger at being expected to expect nothing of herself. Anger at her image as a "powerful matriarch" when in fact she has little power at all and is at the bottom of the economic heap.

But, suprisingly, Ms. Wallace predicts that improved relationships with black men will result! And that is the key to the success of her controversial book "Black Macho and the Myth of the Super Woman."

In her novel Ms. Wallace discusses what she calls a "profound distrust, if not hatred," between black men and women.

"We (black women) have so much pride in our self-control," said Ms. Wallace. "White women allow themselves to cry and scream. And what's wrong with that? Instead, we commit suicide and get high blood pressure."

For the moment the 27-year-old author, suddenly in great demand by the media and public, was in Detroit, "relaxing" in her hotel room between a TV talk-show interview and an appearance at a University of Detroit black studies class.

"I think the black woman is very angry at black men. She's so angry she's afraid to let her rage out because she's afraid there will be no end to it."

Ms. Wallace said she's "really discussing" the fact that the antagonism between black men and women is keeping them from uniting and becoming a more viable political force in this country.

"My book is a challenge to the black women who," she said, "has not developed herself politically. And the longer we go on denying it, the worse it is going to get."

And though she says many readers are offended by her book, it is being grabbed from the shelves as fast as book stores can stock it. Published less than three months ago, it has already sold more than 20,000 copies and is in its second printing.

"I'm saying that black women have to stop excusing their own weakness. We can't live on the fact that our grandmothers picked cotton or that our mothers participated in the Civil Rights Movement. We have to take steps now to save time, she now looks upon the experience as metamorphic: 'I don't know where I'd be if I hadn't been sent there. It clarified everything for me.'"

The young women at the reformatory were everything Wallace was not. Raised in Harlem's Sugar Hill, educated in private schools, sent to private summer camps, Wallace was typically, comfortably middle class. Conversely, the girls in Good Shepard had been classified delinquents, sentenced to the residence by the courts, and basically were uneducated and poor.

MICHELE WALLACE: "Whites have been prejudice against blacks, but people don't know...the extent to which blacks are now prejudice against each other."

"Suddenly it became so clear to me," Michele stated, "that it wasn't going to work for them. That creep around the corner who was pimping was not going to lift them off to 'Alice in Wonderland,' just like my Guatemalan friend was not going to do that for me. When that crystallized for me, it was suddenly as if the cobwebs had been lifted from my eyes, and I could see that there was some work for me in this world."

"That's when I decided to become a writer, that's when I became a feminist, and that's when I realized there was this tremendous misunderstanding between black men and black women and what they expected from each other."

Racism, sexism eyed in TLOD dinner speech

Lady Geneva Murphy entertained the Top Ladies of Distinction and guests at a dinner meeting Thursday, May 10, 1979, at the Officer's Club, Fort Benjamin Harrison.

After a delicious meal Lady Mary Wilson, TLOD president, introduced Ms. Osma Spurlock, Director of the local office of the Equal Opportunity Commission, who was the speaker of the evening. She spoke about Title VII: "Racism and sexism with employment in private industry."

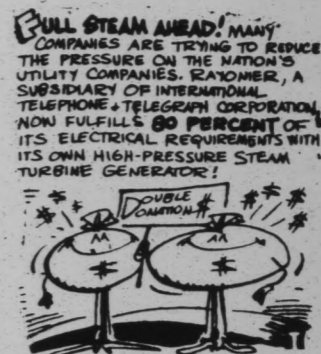

The District EEO office has seventy employees. It reviews cases to make sure there is no violation in hiring persons due to race, sex, creed, color or national origin. This applies to all private employers with federal contracts. The office has decision making authority with respect to policy in attempts to make out of court settlements. There are nine attorneys employed by the office.

Ms. Spurlock stated further that many good paying jobs never hit the job market. Only in telling friends do they procure the job. EEO looks into recruitment, hiring, interviewing practices and examination of promotion. If one feels he has been discriminated against in an employment situation because of race, creed, color, sex, religion or national origin he may file a charge with the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission and he should do it right now.

Ms. Spurlock told how to file a charge and where to file the charge. She was very interesting and delivered "much food for thought." She also stated that one could not be denied a job or fair treatment on a job.

Delegates and alternates were chosen to attend the National Convention to be held in Austin, Texas on June 15 through 18, 1979. Some Top Teens will also be going.

NOTHING HIDE St. Mark 4:21-23
120. Is GOD black?
A. Glad you asked, this question appeared in the TIME magazine, November 15, 1968. Jesus came through the side of Israel called Judah, ZION, JACOB (Num. 24:19, Pam. 2:1-7, Luke 1:31-33, Rev. 5:5, 14:1-3). Women of ZION acquired black skin during Jeremiah's days, their children emerged from that day on as "black skin people" (Lam. 5:10, 11). Jesus' mother Mary was a "daughter of ZION which entitled Jesus to David's throne (2 Sam. 5:7). When Philip asked to see the FATHER, Jesus replied: "he who has seen ME has seen the FATHER" (St. Jn. 14:7-11, Col. 1:1-15). Paul said, "If our gospel be hid, it is hid to them who are lost" (2 Cor. 4:3). Many people refuse Christ, preference to Satan "fair" beauty, therefore Satan reigns today in many churches (Ezo. 28:11-17).

Goodwill M.B.C. invites all to hear messenger

Rev. James Harris, associate minister of the New Covenant Baptist Church, delivered a message that was both challenging and inspiring. He chose his subject, "Good Works" from Revelations 14 and challenged the group when he asked, "what are you doing and continued with the provocative question, "your deceased members left footprints in the sands of time. Does your work speak for you?" Rev. Harris closed with a solo, "May The Work I've Done Speak For Itself". Mrs. Thelma Herrington took charge of the tributes to the late Dr. Martin, who was her sister. Mrs. Myrna Wiggins, solo; Stella Kelley, Helen Younger, Helen Heilman, poems, and Rev. Robert Thomas, acoustic. Mrs. Herrington then gave a special tribute to two survivors of the original Bible Class, Mrs. Ruth Majors, a charter member and Mrs. Myrna Wiggins. Then came the symbolic presentation of flowers representing the twenty three deceased members. Mrs. Helen Hall and her assistants, Mesdames Mary Brasher, Helen Heilman and Ruth Hude gave each member a peony to place in the vase as each deceased member's name was called. This formed a beautiful bouquet which symbolized the beautiful life they each had lived. Mrs. Sally Yates, president of the Bible Class was unable to attend but sent her best wishes. Rev. Frank Alexander, executive director; Rev. Richard Patrick, program director and Mrs. Evon Hunt, coordinator, gave encouraging remarks. Rev. Harris gave the benediction. Rev. James Williams, pastor of New Baptist Church is the class instructor.

He chose his subject, "Good Works" from Revelations 14 and challenged the group when he asked, "what are you doing and continued with the provocative question, "your deceased members left footprints in the sands of time. Does your work speak for you?" Rev. Harris closed with a solo, "May The Work I've Done Speak For Itself". Mrs. Thelma Herrington took charge of the tributes to the late Dr. Martin, who was her sister. Mrs. Myrna Wiggins, solo; Stella Kelley, Helen Younger, Helen Heilman, poems, and Rev. Robert Thomas, acoustic. Mrs. Herrington then gave a special tribute to two survivors of the original Bible Class, Mrs. Ruth Majors, a charter member and Mrs. Myrna Wiggins. Then came the symbolic presentation of flowers representing the twenty three deceased members. Mrs. Helen Hall and her assistants, Mesdames Mary Brasher, Helen Heilman and Ruth Hude gave each member a peony to place in the vase as each deceased member's name was called. This formed a beautiful bouquet which symbolized the beautiful life they each had lived. Mrs. Sally Yates, president of the Bible Class was unable to attend but sent her best wishes. Rev. Frank Alexander, executive director; Rev. Richard Patrick, program director and Mrs. Evon Hunt, coordinator, gave encouraging remarks. Rev. Harris gave the benediction. Rev. James Williams, pastor of New Baptist Church is the class instructor.

Ebenezer Baptist installs Rev. T.L. Brown as pastor

Ebenezer Baptist Church, 1901 North Harding Street will install Rev. Thomas L. Brown as pastor on Sunday, June 10 at 3:30 p.m.

Rev. Thomas L. Brown was born August 12, 1942, in Chicago, Illinois. He represents the fifth (5th) generation of ministers in his family. His rich family tradition in the ministry evolves out of the Afro-American tradition rooted from the historical slave plantations of Mississippi.

Rev. Andrew J. Brown, father of Rev. Thomas and pastor of St. John Missionary Baptist Church will officiate at the ceremony. His choir and congregation will be the special guest.

A Fellowship dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. on Saturday, June 9 at Ebenezer. The public is invited to all services.

Deacon Bennie Bibbs is general chairman for the installation.

Rev. Thomas L. Brown attended John Hope School #26 in Indianapolis, Indiana for his elementary education. He also attended Arsenal Technical High School. Upon completion of his secondary education, he began his pursuit in higher education.

Rev. Brown obtained his B.A. degree from Bishop College in Dallas, Texas in the Academic Disciplines of Religion and Philosophy; his M.A. degree from Crozer Theological Seminary in Chester, Pennsylvania; his M.C. Div. degree from Garrett Theological Seminary, Evanston, Illinois. Following the learning experience in the Seminary, he did his advanced academic study for the Doctorate of Philosophy Degree. He received advanced and special training at the Prairie View A.M. College in Advanced Counseling. He attended Harvard University for special training in Political and Policy Studies. He had advanced study in the Computer Science under General Electric for Management and Systems Analysis.

Rev. Brown has received many and various academic and civic honors, recognitions, and awards. A few of them are:

He was selected and honored as a member of the United States Conference on Leadership (received Award); he was the recipient of the Midwest and West Distinguished Personalities Award; he was elected Who's Who in American Colleges in 1969-70 and 1971-72; he was listed in Who's Who in American Religion during 1974-75 and 1975-76; and Rev. Brown was selected as one of the top ten in religion and received their Top Ten In Religion In America recognition regarding his church and community work. A comprehensive publication on his work was published and also produced for national television and consequently, aired across the world. Subject was "Religion in America."

Rev. Brown has worked as Southern Campus Coordinator for SNCC, serving on the National Council of Churches on Race and Relations as their special consultant, he directed the Alabama Voters' Education and Registration Program, also, he did the same in North Carolina and Georgia. His special assignments were organizing non-violent training sessions on college campuses across the country. He worked with the original members of the Black Panther Party.

He directed Admission and Recruitment of Bishop College for two years following which he worked as Assistant Pastor of the St. Paul Baptist Church in West Chester, Pennsylvania.

Following this position, Rev. Brown became Associate Pastor the Van Buren Missionary Baptist Church of Gary, Indiana. Then he founded and organized the Koinonia Missionary Baptist Church of Gary, Indiana and served as its pastor. He later founded the Gary OIC and served as Chairman of the Board of Directors.

Rev. Brown later returned to Bishop College to serve as Professor of Church and Community and Special Director for Admission and Recruitment Development.

In 1974, Rev. Thomas Brown became Associate Minister of the St. John Missionary Baptist Church and Program Director of the Indiana Christian Leadership Conference/Operation Breadbasket. Later, he became their Executive Director, which he still is today. He has a weekly television show seen locally in the central Indiana area. He serves as a consultant for area community organizations which work mainly in the inner city to uplift and guide the poor and Black. Rev. Brown also works closely with the Southern Christian Leadership Conference National Headquarters serving not only in Indiana but across the nation. Lately, he became assigned as Special Assistant to the SCLC President, a position which he now holds.

He serves presently as consultant to the National Progressive Baptist Convention and a large group of churches across this nation on Economic, Educational and Social Change Projects.

More recently, Ebenezer Baptist Church called Rev. Thomas Brown to pastor their church. Although Rev. Brown will continue to function in his other capacities, Ebenezer Baptist Church has become his first and foremost priority.

Rev. Brown is most noted for his ministry of social action, social action training and social action teaching which he administers through the media and from the Black church community base. Being now the Pastor of Ebenezer, a great church of the city, he brings a new level of awareness to the purpose and relevance of religion and the church to positive social change and improvement.

Rev. Brown and his lovely wife, Beverly are the parents of two sons and two daughters.

Tyrone 'moody,' GQ bland

TYRONE DAVIS

Believe Me..

When I Tell You

BOB WOMACK SR.

By LYNN FORD, Performing World Editor

Moods, moods and more moods filled TYRONE DAVIS' two concerts last Monday in the Circle Theatre.

The veteran soul singer went from a lifeless soul shouter to a mock sexy crooner and sound perfectionist in only a few songs during his nightclub set.

Davis walked on pure soul revue style (he was preceded by two short warmup acts: a fine soul singer-guitarist and a comic) and, after two songs, became displeased with what he heard coming through the stage monitors. He was determined he wasn't going to have the audience suffer through horrible sound mixing like opening act GQ did.

"Hey sound man, what's the problem?," he shouted angrily as the audience cheered in amazement. "What's going on? You don't have to keep turning dials to adjust my voice. I know how to control my own voice."

The audience shouted "right on!" almost in unison.

Getting away from this particular concert for a moment, this critic agrees that more artists should demand from the stage that their sound men get on the ball. Faulty sound mixing has ruined many a show and many times there's really no excuse for it. The stage monitors, which are those box-like objects which line the foot of a stage three or four strong, are there to allow the artist to hear up close and personal what the audience is hearing through the main speakers. As was evidenced by the response of Davis' crowd, this critic doesn't believe an audience would boo or hiss if an artist paused during a concert or, even better, right in the middle of a song, to call his sound men on the carpet.

Davis' sound man, incidentally, seemed to lower his head in embarrassment as he brought the sound mix up to par.

Some low frequency buzz still managed to mar Davis' sound, but the mix was at best acceptable.

Davis didn't show much personality during the first few songs, but he caught fire on one song, which had him taking off his white jacket and tie, opening his black-and-white nylon shirt to the waist, and getting into a series of suggestive gyrations reminiscent of TEDDY PENDERGRASS.

"I'm a brand new me," he sang.

He followed with his best number, "I Can't Wait," and reached into the past for "Turn Back the Hands of Time," "Give it Up (Turn it Loose)" and "Can I Change My Mind." Davis sounds better on record. He at times overings and his voice is rather rough at the edges, but he managed to blend well at all times with his female backup trio, JUST NICE.

Davis did most of his biggies, but he skipped two of this critic's favorites, "Turning Point" and "Close to You."

He encored with, and got the most favorable response from, his current hit single, "In the Mood," which is his best collaboration with producer LEO GRAHAM in years.

Maybe its label pushed it on the road too quickly on the heels of a platinum single, but GQ managed to turn in a set which was 95 percent bland and five percent all right.

Of course the four-piece outfit got over with the crowd on "Disco Nights (Rock-Freak)," but the band's attempts at choreography were ridiculous. The unidentified lead singer and the bassist at times tried for some exciting dance steps and leaps, but they were off time and out of step with each other.

It was obvious this band was trying for something it didn't have. When one could get past the buzz the public address system was pouring out in chunks, GQ sounded pretty nice

Unemployment and energy crunch focus of Black Press convention

WASHINGTON (NNPA)—Black unemployment and the racial implications of the energy crunch will be the focal points of the 39th Annual Convention of the National Newspaper Publishers Association -- the Black Press of America -- June 13-16 in Tulsa, Okla.

These two areas, said NNPA President John H. Sengstacke in making the convention announcement last week, are the major concerns of our readers who know that nearly 15 percent of our people are jobless, and who themselves face the energy crunch at the gasoline pump and in their electric and fuel bills.

Among those who will discuss the unemployment problem at the Tulsa convention at the Williams Plaza Hotel are: Benjamin Hooks of the NAACP, Vernon Jordan of the National Urban League, Charles L. Brown, chairman of the board of AT & T; Ms. Alexis Herman, director of the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Labor Department; and Lloyd N. Hand, president of the National Alliance of Businessmen; Robert W. Morrow, vice president of ITT Continental Baking Company.

The energy crunch and how it hurts blacks will be discussed by Robert Sellers, chairman of the board of Cities Services; Jesse L. George, Jr., president of the Williams Exploration Company; Thomas D. Walker of Gulf Oil Corporation; and Wilson Goode, chairman of the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission.

Featured activities of the convention will include an address by former Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, who is running hard for the Republican nomination for the presidency, and the presentation of the "Black Press Man of the Year Award" to U.S. Ambassador Andrew Young to the United Nations.

Opening greetings will be brought to the convention by Gov. George Nigh of Oklahoma, U.S. Senator David Boren of the state, and Mayor James Inhofe of Tulsa.

Climaxing the convention will be the presentation of $20,000 in Merit Awards to member newspaper publishers and staffers who were victorious in the 19-category contest with nearly 700 entries. And advertising awards will be made to AT & T, Chrysler, Heublein, Kellogg's, Miller Brewing Company, and Quaker

Legislators

in South don't support poor

WASHINGTON (NNPA)

A Black Press study of the Budget vote by Congressmen from 11 deep South states shows that they supported only three of six amendments aimed at helping blacks and the poor.

Receiving the worst defeats were the Theodore Weiss Amendment and the Parren Mitchell "Human Needs Amendment." The former would have transferred a billion dollars from Defense funds to a youth jobs program, and the latter would have increased revenues $4 billion by closing tax loopholes and used half of the money for domestic social programs and the other half to reduce the budget deficit.

The Mitchell Amendment received from the South only 11 of its 130 votes. And the Weiss Amendment received from the South only four of its 92 votes.

Victorious in cutting $2.5 billion from the budget across-the-board to the detriment of blacks and the poor was the Joseph Fisher Amendment. He and the other Virginia Congressmen, with blacks making up from two to 37 percent of the residents of their districts, voted only eight times in favor of budget items for blacks and the poor.

Mississippi Congressmen voted only five times in favor of blacks and the poor, Louisiana, seven times; South Carolina, 10 times; Alabama, 12 times; and Georgia 20 times.

"Many of the Congressmen from the deep South could not survive without the black vote," NNPA President John H. Sengstacke said in issuing the National Newspaper Publishers Association study, "yet they remain in Congress by the black vote, but vote consistently against the interest of blacks."

"We are going to keep on making and publishing these studies," Sengstacke stated, "until blacks in the deep South and across America wake up."

In the study, the Congressional Black Caucus vote was used as a model. The deep South states represented in the study are: Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia.

REV. CASEY GREEN

Reverend Casey Green, 60, 410 W. 11th, died May 28 in Wishard Hospital. Services were held for the pastor of New Life Baptist Church June 2 in Shiloh Baptist Church. Burial was New Crown Cemetery.

Born in St. Charles, Ky., the Rev. Green was a self-employed mason. He lived here 55 years, was a member of Minister's Foresight, and Men's Union Bible Class. Survivors: wife, Gladys; son, Jerry; brother, Audrey; sisters, Mrs. Joanna Burris, Elnora Majors of Madisonville, Ky., and Letcher Anderson of Earlington Ky.

CLARENCE MARION

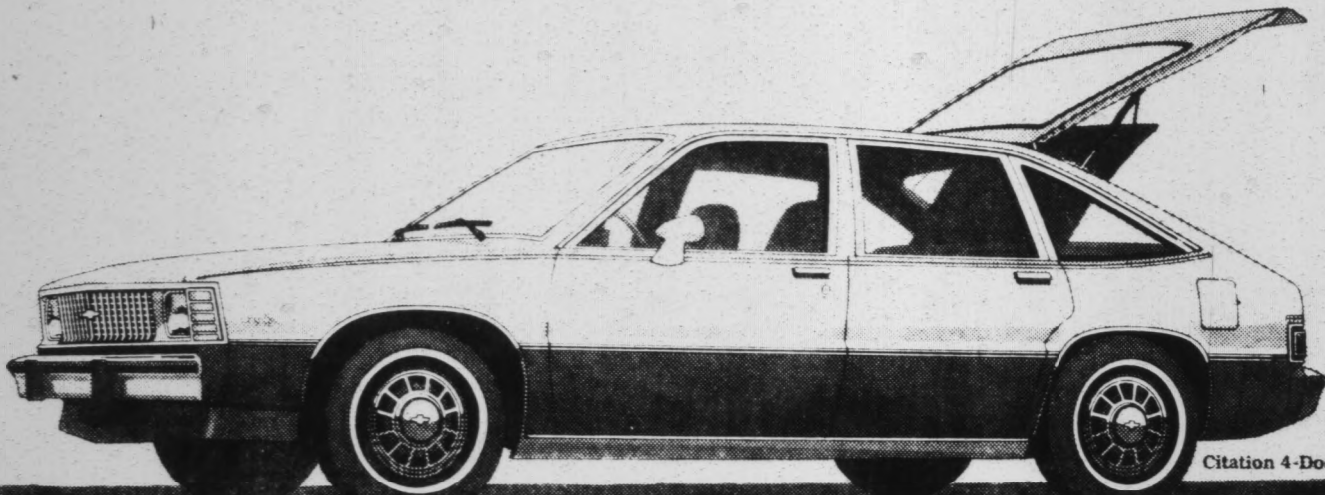

Memorial services for Clarence Marion, 51, 3216 Concord Court, were held in Friendship Missionary Baptist Church, of which he was a member. Burial was New Crown Cemetery.

Marion died May 26 in his native Newark, New Jersey home, while vacationing. He was a World War II Army veteran, and had lived here four years. Citation 4-Door Hatchback

INTRODUCING THE FIRST CHEVY OF THE '80s

It's smooth. It's quick. It's roomy. It's already gone through more miles of preparation than testing than any car in Chevy history.

MID-SIZE ROOM FOR 5 ADULTS

Citation's engine is mounted sideways for added passenger compartment space. In fact, in EPA interior dimensions, Citation hatchbacks are classified as mid-size cars. With the back seat folded down, there's room enough for two adults, 30 bags of groceries in back.

THE PULL OF FRONT WHEEL DRIVE

The heart of Chevy Citation is its front wheel drive. Power pulls the car rather than pushes it. With approximately 65% of the weight of the car over the driving wheels, you get impressive traction on wet roads, in snow and mud.

0 TO 50 IN 9 SECONDS FLAT WITH THE AVAILABLE V6

That's a name you'll find in tests with the available 2.8 liter V6 and automatic transmission. And that's acceleration you'll appreciate on a fast way out of town. Figures not available. Citation is equipped with GM fuel engines produce 140 hp. Various divisions. See your dealer for details.

CARRIES BIG LOADS (AND KEEPS IT A SECRET)

Behind the rear seat of a Citation hatchback you get a cargo room that's just a foot less than the trunk space in our big Chevy 1. And there's a rear compartment panel linked to the hatch, so what's inside is protected from view. The panel can be easily removed when you want more load height.

IMPRESSIVE GAS MILEAGE ESTIMATES

With a standard 4-cylinder engine and 4-speed overdrive transmission, Citation's EPA-estimated miles per gallon is 30 city and 38 highway. And Citation's 4-cylinder engine and 4-speed overdrive transmission, Citation's EPA-estimated miles per gallon is 30 city and 38 highway. And Citation's 4-cylinder engine and 4-speed overdrive transmission, Citation's EPA-estimated miles per gallon is 30 city and 38 highway.

PRICED AS LOW AS $3983

That's the Manufacturer's Suggested Retail Price including dealer prep for the 1980 Chevy Citation 2-Door Coupe shown immediately above. Tax, license and destination charges extra. If you order available equipment, it will cost extra.

What we would like you to do is drive a Citation. For we want you to judge the way it feels. The way it handles. The way it rides.

The way it can make a stretch of road seem straighter, smoother, even shorter.

We urge you to visit your Chevy dealer soon and test drive the first Chevy of the '80s.

Then talk to him about buying or leasing the 1980 Chevy Citation.

It's a whole new kind of compact car.

"Power concedes nothing without a demand — it never did and it never will. Find out just what people will submit to, and you've found out the exact amount of injustice and wrong which will

Power Black-out

In what must be viewed as an almost unprecedented move, President Carter scolded Black Americans for not exercising their right to vote to help overcome what he quite correctly characterized as "the cancer of racial injustice" that "has always been near the heart of America."

Mr. Carter was speaking in commencement exercises at the 141-year-old black Cheyney State College in Pennsylvania just three days after the NAACP celebrated the silver anniversary of the Brown v. Board of Education decision outlawing "separate but equal" facilities.

"How are we going to have the leadership to fight for equal opportunity and affirmative action in jobs, schools and housing if even the act of voting is too great an effort?" he wondered.

Given the fact that without the nearly total support from black voters in 1976 Mr. Carter would not now be President, it is understandable that he appreciates that potential political clout of America's still largest minority group. Not only that but Mr. Carter, a southerner, has to a large extent prided himself on his lifelong association with blacks.

His close friendship with the Martin Luther King family, his open expression of affinity for blacks, his recent vacation on the nearly all black Sapelo Island off the Georgia coastline where he and his family worked in an all black church proudly savoring cultural delicacies afterward all distinctly differentiate Mr. Carter from other avowedly liberal presidents, except Lyndon Johnson, another southerner of historic note.

As a result of his open embrace of the traditional victims of racial discrimination, Mr. Carter's association has often been criticized as being more symbolic than substantive. Some critics attempt to compare his record of achievement on social programs with his expressions of support for blacks. As a result, they have found his achievement record disappointing.

One of President Carter's indisputable strengths, however, clearly is political realism. Without this genius for sizing up voter sentiments, he never would have been able to defeat an incumbent president, and his chances for reelection next year would be dimmed.

His often repeated statements that he will not challenge President Carter next year notwithstanding, Massachusetts Senator Ted Kennedy looms as a major threat. There is also California Gov. Jerry Brown whose non-orthodox form of politicking could very well undercut fatally Mr. Carter.

Given these prospects, the President almost desperately needs good political insurance. Blacks still represent that opportunity. In moving to awaken black political consciousness, therefore, what are his chances of success?

Clearly, Mr. Carter recognizes that without the 1965 Voting Rights Act, his chances of victory in 1976 would hardly have been possible. The passage of that act represented on the bloodiest and humanly costliest phases in the civil rights movement.

But it signalled an historic victory that, properly utilized, could be one of the most significant stepping stones to full racial equality. Ironically, however, southern blacks have utilized the power of the ballot box much more effectively than the others and sisters in urban centers in the North.

The political tragedy of blacks in such cities as New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Hartford, Conn., Chicago and elsewhere is that their political power is almost minuscule compared to their numbers. On the national level, the tragedy is the same. Special interest groups outmaneuver blacks on almost major issue that concerns them.

But it makes little sense to complain against racial injustice and exploitation when blacks themselves do not utilize the power they now have. Blacks have the opportunity to register and vote. Yet they do not do so.

The NAACP, recognizing this problem, has therefore shifted its voter education program from Birmingham to Detroit. Our branches around the nation have been alerted to this crisis. It is time for Black Americans now to join in developing their political might.

Is High Court a Handicap to Blacks?

Soon now the U.S. Supreme Court is expected to hand down its decision in the Weber case. Either it will approve of the voluntarily adopted training program developed by a Kaiser Aluminum plant of Gramercy, La., and the United Steelworkers Union to help correct the effects of longstanding discrimination against blacks and women, or it will decide for Brian F. Weber, the white $20,000-a-year lab technician who brought the suit.

In the latter case, affirmative action training for upgrading will join Bakke in the twilight zone, and blacks and women will have received a setback that it may take decades to overcome.

You know the case, Kaiser Aluminum, located on the Mississippi between Baton Rouge and New Orleans, is loaded down with government contracts. To keep these contracts, it must not discriminate against blacks and women in its employment rolls. But it did. The Department of Justice knew it, the Department of Labor knew it, and EEOC knew it. And a discrimination suit arising in one of its nearby plants resulted in a $255,000 award to black employees.

As the government tardily began to breathe hard on Kaiser's neck, it and its chummy Steelworkers Union decided to establish a one-to-one craft training program to upgrade both blacks and whites. Applicants for the training were chosen on the basis of seniority out of two separate pools of workers — blacks and whites.

It was a good try and deserves to be sustained, but along came Weber, who had been passed over in the white pool. He said he had more seniority than some of the blacks chosen and, therefore, he was being discriminated against. With a wink, both the federal district court and the circuit court of appeals agreed. Weber's lower court victories were based on the supposition that Kaiser did not discriminate. So why should it develop a discriminatory craft-training program to correct the effects of discrimination which never existed? It's up to the High Court to decide.

However the Court decides, it seems to be high time for America to take a long look at this antiquated institution, found in few countries other than the U.S. and Liberia. Why not let the President and the Congress override the Court for starters?

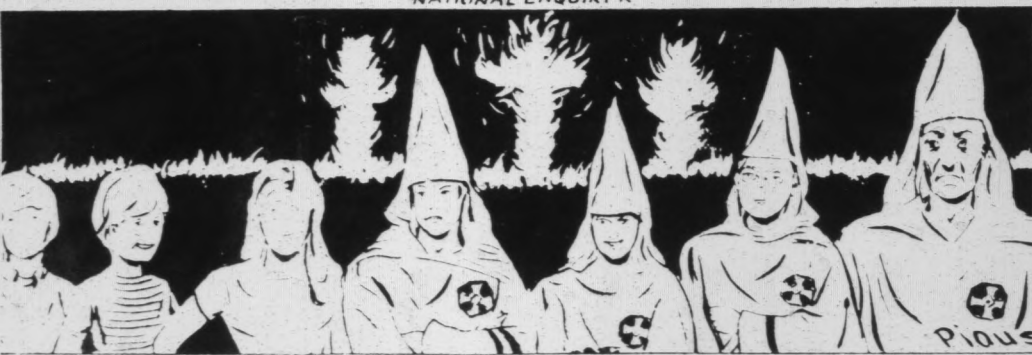

Remember, it's the court of Bakke, the Dred Scott, of Plessy v. Ferguson of slavery itself and fugitive slave laws. But more than that it's the BLACK LEADERSHIP WILL NOT LET THIS GO UNANSWERED..

To Be Equal

Randolph a man for all seasons

Executive Director
National Urban League
BY VERNON E. JORDAN JR.

The death of A. Philip Randolph at the age of 90 removes a strong link with the past. The civil rights movement is often so preoccupied with its daily battles that it can ill afford to forget its roots. Mr. Randolph's creative presence, even in his long and honored retirement, was a constant reminder of those roots, and a spur to excel as he did.

His career spanned over sixty years of intense activity, of unrelenting efforts to bring equality to black Americans. His career was studied by confrontations with three presidents, with industrial giants, with the labor movement, the army, and the Klan. And he emerged victorious from all of them.

The man President Woodrow Wilson described as the most dangerous man in America was responsible for some of the most important breakthroughs black people have made.

He is perhaps best known for spurring unionization of black court that FDR sought to pack because it stood astride the upward path of his "Common Man."

First Black Woman General President Carter has nominated Col. Hazel W. Johnson to be a U.S. Army Brigadier General — a first for black women. It was long overdue.

Unfortunately, Colonel Johnson's mother will not be present for the swearing in. She died recently and the Colonel was home from Korea for the funeral when the President called her to the White House and informed her of his plans to promote her.

This chief nurse of the U.S. Army Medical Command in Korea has been in the Army 22 years. She was born and reared in Westchester, Pa., and educated at Villanova, Columbia, and Catholic Universities.

Bunny Is Doing a Job When Martha "Bunny" Mitchell left the White House several months ago, and Louis Martin moved in, some folks started counting. I am glad to disappoint you: Bunny is doing ok at the Small Business Administration.

For the first time that agency may really begin serving blacks in a meaningful manner, not window dressing. She has excellent plans for reaching sections of the black community that have never been touched by SBA. Congratulations.

Lancaster to Be Honored Emmer Martin Lancaster, who did so much for black business people during his 30-year tenure in the U.S. Department of Commerce, is receiving the University of Akron Alumni Honor Award this week along with four others.

workers. At a time when blacks were strictly segregated, barred from many unions, and forced to work for menial wages at whatever jobs white workers didn't want, Mr. Randolph won a bitter, decade-long struggle to organize the railroad porters.

The creation of that union in the face of incredible obstacles and against the opposition of the Pullman Company, then one of the most powerful industrial giants in the country, helped shape black strategy and tactics for a generation.

It also opened the largely segregated American labor movement to black workers in a way it never had before. By the time the AFL and CIO merged in 1955, Mr. Randolph was one of the most prominent labor leaders in the country.

In 1941, with the nation rearming and blacks barred from lucrative defense factory jobs, Mr. Randolph planned a march on Washington that horrified the Administration.

President Roosevelt pleaded with him to call off the march. Randolph refused. At the eleventh hour the President capitulated and issued an executive order opening defense jobs to blacks and created a Fair Employment Practices Committee to enforce it.

That did more than open thousands of jobs to black workers, important though that was. It set a precedent, a small opening in the wall of discrimination that was broadened in later years.

Mr. Randolph's refusal to accept a Jim Crow army and his public urging of black youth to refuse to be drafted led directly to President Truman's orders desegregating the armed services.

Everyone remembers Martin Luther King, Jr. and the 1963 March on Washington, but too few recall that the March was Mr. Randolph's idea. That massive outpouring of blacks and whites led directly to the civil rights laws and the removal of legal segregation in America.

So A. Philip Randolph left his mark on America. He leaves it a far better nation than the Jim Crow, racist state of the turn of the century.

I could go on for pages more about his vast contributions to the cause of racial equality, and about his specific accomplishments. He was indeed a man of all seasons, a man whose devotion to duty and to human rights inspires us all.

But what of the future? I believe that the essence of Mr. Randolph's thought and career can guide us in the troubled present and uncertain future.

A prime element of his thought was the need for interracial cooperation. Perhaps the most militant black leader of his time, he understood not only that a small minority needs the support of members of the majority, but also that poverty and deprivation cut across racial lines.

A second hallmark of his thinking was the importance of economics. It was Mr. Randolph who insisted on employment opportunities for black workers and who created the 1963 March on Washington slogan of "Jobs and Freedom." For him, the two were inseparable for he understood how valueless "freedom" is without economic power.

Finally, he was an apostle of direct non-violent action. He led boycotts, marches, and other steps to apply pressure to an unwilling majority. But he also had the sense of timing and sophistication to resort to those weapons only when they would yield results.

There was more, much more, about this great man. He had a long, full life of accomplishment and service. He now occupies a place of honor in the pantheon of our nation's heroes.

Ballot power

To the editor:

Doesn't it appear to you that we of a higher consciousness level regarding the importance of voting will have to attempt to enlist our own families, our aunts, uncles, children and try to persuade them to vote to increase our power at the ballot areas?

When asked if they voted—their pat answer is "For what?"

Do your own experiment and ask them if they voted, and hear something in reply like "I never vote!"

To be aware of your potential as voters here in Indianapolis is the beginning of wisdom, and not to be involved in the process restricts you to the basement of retardation.

Youth has no way to go except to grow inevitably older as we all must, but weep not for age—weep for youth.

Each of you is necessary to the other; the one to carry the torch of truth, the other to keep it lit until it's your turn to pass it on. Don't drop it...else you may have to retrace your footprints in life.

Take a friends—please exercise your unique right to vote in November. It's yours, and it's more important to us as blacks than the popular food stamps.

'David-Goliath' fight was urban home improvement mortgages

"We're mad as hell and we're not going to take it any more" are words from a popular movie, but they also describe the frustration of neighborhoods denied home mortgage and improvement loans. Until recently, combating redlining practices was a David versus Goliath affair; now, however, the Community Reinvestment Act (CRA) gives neighborhoods a fighting chance.

Deriving its strength from a coalition of neighborhood organizations throughout the country, CRA spells out in general terms lenders' responsibilities for making loans in all neighborhoods within their community or service area.

By February 5, banks and savings and loan associations were to adopt a CRA statement including a map delineating their service area and a list of specific types of credit loans available. The Act also encourages lenders to describe how their efforts are meeting community credit needs.

During an annual review, federal regulators are to compare the CRA statement with the lender's actual performance. In examining loans made to low and moderate income areas, regulators will also consider marketing plans and special credit programs designed to make the community aware of services offered, the lender's participation in community development or redevelopment projects and the lender's participation in government loan programs.

Poor lending records can result in the denial of banking privileges such as additional branches, charters, and mergers.

To be successful, CRA must go beyond the written word. In a meeting sponsored by the Community Action Against Poverty (CAAP), in February, Helen Murray of the National Training and Information Center said, "We must start through the CRA process to bring money back into the cities, but that is not going to happen unless community groups are out there and aware."

The Home Mortgage Disclosure Act enables such groups to obtain from the lender, a breakdown by census tract of the number, types, and value of home loans granted. Those dissatisfied with the lender's policies or practices can submit a written complaint to be placed in a public file and reviewed by the regulator.

Local groups are now using CRA to get a handle on what they perceive as redlining practices. CAAP is currently collecting data and comparing lenders' CRA statements to their actual performance in low and moderate income areas. Information obtained thus far shows that in 1978, only 52 percent of the approximate $385,000,000 made available by Marion County lenders remained within Marion County.

Though figures are incomplete, it appears that less than 10 percent of the amount remained within Center Township.

In April, the United Southside Community Organization (USCO) held a public meeting in which it presented to representatives from five lending institutions, a request for $10,000 to create a Southside Revitalization Task Force. The proposal, to be acted on this month, calls for the financial institutions, not-for-profit neighborhood organizations, and the city working together to define credit-related problems and develop and implement solutions.

At the USCO hearing, Howard Sites of Merchants Bank stated that CRA is not a panacea, defined and subject to misunderstanding. Sites also said, however, "Some of the principles of CRA are very good in that it does us all some good to get off our duffs and go out and meet people rather than relying on our advertising programs and the fact that we have our doors open."

Britain's Tory Boss and newly elected Prime Minister, Margaret Thatcher plans to stop Britain's march toward socialism. Overnight she has become the darling of the world's conservative parties, the heroine of the South African government and the illicit political lover of Ian Smith's manufactured black majority rule puppet government, headed by B. J. P. Muzorewa.

In terms of history the significant victory of British conservatism comes at a time when the world's Labor and Social Democratic parties have failed to provide the leadership and basic economic changes needed to solve the flood of post World War II social and economic problems, now reaching dangerous dimensions.

The giant twin engines of massive government deficit financing and arms expenditures which fueled the relative prosperity of the past 30 years has abruptly become choked with masses of paper money, inflation, and the 17 million unemployed scattered across industrial Europe and the United States.

Legend has it that during the past 30 years the various Labor parties and Social Democratic parties were busily rearranging the political and economic landscape so that history would not repeat itself in another massive depression. Legend also has it that the Welfare States were the end of all national social policies.

But the facts to the contrary are startling. To this very day in all of the European nations which at one time or another were under the sway of the Social Democratic labor parties industry is still owned privately by a whopping 842.

Only 12.14% of the industrial plant has ever been nationalized. And the pattern of the nationalization was essentially to nationalize only those industries which were of national importance but which at the same time were becoming unprofitable to the private owners. The owners of the Gas line- Blacks at the back

Californians have got more than a problem with a shortage of gas when it has a senile Senator in the state.

Senator S. I. Hayakawa, yes, a minority in more ways than one, seems to think only the rich work and are therefore entitled to gasoline for their cars.

The sleepy Senator sounds like a neanderthal nit wit who has just been awakened to the fact the poor work for the rich. Right wing conservative thinking like the Senator's is shared by Ronald Reagan on the near right of the simple Senator as courted by President Carter on the Senator's short left shirt cuff.

California's former Governor Reagan reduced oil company taxes in the state to start capital formation growth some 10 years ago. Oil tar on sunny California beaches are the best evidence of his emancipation of oil exploration in the state.

Slicing oil price controls by Carter has given California gas lines, while the Senator is sleeping in his senate seat. Someone should mention to simple Simon that oil as a source of energy is not a mass employer of people or the only source of energy.

Solar energy development is simply not being sought after in a vigorous manner by the administration and maybe being ignored by Washington. Researchers at Lawrence Laboratory in Berkeley, Ca. have unveiled a solar heating system that is among the first in the West to provide heat for a large office building.

Development along these lines could greatly reduce the demand for electricity produced by petroleum fired generators for office buildings and plants. This could free much of the already abundant petroleum crude oil in the country for cracking into gasoline for cars.

Unfortunately, the four story building in Berkeley which houses several hundred laboratory employees and receives one-third of its space heating and hot water is only a demonstration project. Solar energy needs a push from the President of it is to truly provide America a safe supply of energy.

At the very heart of this solar energy accomplishment is an array of solar panels mounted on the building's roof. Solar collectors, single-glazed, flat panels with absorber plates coated with black chrome have exceptional heat retention properties.

Perhaps, white America will get wise to the woofings of the White House about the need for only the consumer to conserve while the oil companies take a fortune to find existing oil.

When white America wakes up to the fact that Black America is firmly segregated from the seats of power in the petroleum industry, it will recognize not just racism, but a master rip-off of the entire America public.

HARRISONBURG, VA.—

They call him Samson. But that's not necessarily because he stands so tall above everyone else, it's because it's his name by birth.

So the young lad everyone outside this state has been wooing—Ralph Sampson—ended months of nationwide speculation by announcing May 31 that he would attend the University of Virginia. This spring he has been the most sought after high school basketball player since Moses Malone.

The 7-foot-4 sensation disclosed his choice during an evening press conference in his Harrisonburg High School gymnasium. About 75 members of the media and Sampson's family and friends were present.

"It has been a hard decision for me," Sampson said. "This morning, I still didn't know where I was going. I had narrowed it down between Kentucky and Virginia."

"Kentucky is better known for its basketball program than Virginia, but Virginia is in a strong conference. Charlottesville is a small city, a lot like Harrisonburg."

Between 180 and 200 schools had vied for the services of Sampson. He first pared the list to 16 schools, then to seven, and finally, to four.

He arrived at the gym minutes before the 7 p.m. press conference and informed Harrisonburg Coach Roger Bergey of his decision. Bergey and an assistant coach immediately telephoned the four head coaches of the colleges that were among Sampson's finalists to inform them of the player's decision. In addition to Kentucky and Virginia, Sampson had cited Virginia Tech and North Carolina as among his final four.

Sampson average 29.5 points and 20.4 rebounds last season as he led the Blue Streaks to their second consecutive AA TITLE. For his four-year high school career, Sampson scored 1,699 points, pulled down 1,299 rebounds and blocked 475 shots in 83 games.

At McDonald's Capital Classic in Largo, Md., in March, Sampson won most-valuable player honors as his 23 point, 21-rebound, five-blocked shots effort carried the Capital All Stars to victory over the U.S. All Stars. He will play for the U.S. Pan American Games squad, coached by Indiana University's Bobby Knight, this summer in Puerto Rico.

Bergey recently had discussed an assistant coaching job at the University of Maryland, however, Bergey said that he planned to make that decision only after Sampson had made up his mind in selecting a college.

"Ralph Sampson and I have never discussed a package deal, nor have I discussed one with any university," Bergey said in response to questions before the press conference.

"I was trying to see the recruitment of Ralph all the way through; then, if anybody was interested in me, we would talk," Bergey insisted.

Evansville Memorial out to defend state crown

No. 1 Evansville Memorial and two other ranked clubs drew first-round byes in pairings last week for the Indiana High School Athletic Association baseball tourney.

Sectional play began this week, with the regionals scheduled for June 9, the semi-state June 16, and the state finals June 23 at Bush Stadium.

Memorial, the defending champion which has won a record 46 straight games over two seasons, drew a bye in the Evansville sectional and was to meet the first-round winner of a game between city rivals Central and Mater Dei.

The other byes went to No. 4 Richmond and No. 8 Tipton. Richmond, which hosts its own sectional, will open against the winner of the Cambridge City-Northeastern contest. Tipton, playing Noblesville, will take on the survivor of the Carmel-Noblesville game.

No. 2 LaPorte, the only three-time winner of the title and a finalist last year, opened at home against Michigan City Rogers.

Jasper, rated third, opens at home against Pike Central. Fifth-ranked DeKalb puts its ratings on the line at home against Eastside.

Logansport, a two-time state champ and ranked sixth this year, opens at home against Caston.

Columbus East, ranked seventh, faces South Decatur at Columbus.

No. 8 Marshall drew Lawrence Central at the Warren Central site in Marion County.

No. 10 Plymouth, the only team to beat LaPorte this year, is home against Argos. Blackford, runner-ups in the 1978 event, opens against Bluffton, while Kokomo Haworth, the other finalist in 1978, meets neighboring Eastern.

This year's field of 392 teams is one less than a year ago. Terre Haute State was phased out and Indiana Deaf did not enter. Culver Military is in the field for the first time.

TRIUMPHANT PUFF: An NBA-sized cigar was the toast of victory for Seattle guard Dennis Johnson, as Super Sonics' general manager Zolte Volchok (left) joins in the celebration. The Sonics had just clinched a fifth-game victory over the defending champion Washington Bullets. Johnson was named most valuable player.

Unbeaten pro bounces Knoetze

Tate appears big threat in heavyweight competition

Undeclared John Tate of Knoxville, Tenn., stamped himself a rising threat in the heavyweight division when he stopped South African Kallie Knoetze at 2:30 of the eighth round of their scheduled World Boxing Association 12 rounder last weekend in Mmabatho, Bophuthatswana.

Tate, 24, raised his pro record to 19-0, as he viciously punished Knoetze with thundering lefts and rights to the face, shattering the hopes of the 26-year-old No. 1 ranked WBA contender from South Africa for a shot at the world title.

Knoetze, who weighed 225 pounds, was bleeding profusely from under his right eye and nose when referee Isidoro Rodriguez of Venezuela stopped the one-sided fight.

Tate, the No. 3 ranked contender who weighed 233 pounds, continually danced from the lumbering South African. By the end of the seventh round Tate was winking and smiling as Knoetze made a few ineffectual punches. It was Knoetze's third loss against 17 victories.

More than 50,000 fans, mostly black, turned out in an open-air soccer stadium in this former tribal homeland that was granted independence by neighboring South Africa in 1977.

Knoetze had been a target for demonstrators when he fought in Miami earlier this year. Working as a policeman, Knoetze had once shot a black teen-ager, who was allegedly

CAR CARE

HELPFUL TIPS TO SAVE YOU MONEY

Now is the time to tune up your car so you can take full advantage of the good driving weather that's ahead and save fuel and costly repairs, too. Here are some tips on tune-ups from Amalie Refining Company.

1. Check your antifreeze coolant. Add antifreeze coolant to your radiator for the warm weather ahead if needed.

2. Install a new air filter. This helps save gas and keeps your car running smoother.

3. Replace belts and hoses that are brittle or cracked. Keep the old ones—they come in handy in emergencies.

4. Now is a good time to check your spark plugs, points and condenser. Replace as needed, or have your mechanic do it for you.

5. Change your transmission fluid if it's very dark and thick or if it smells burned. Also check to see when the transmission filter was changed last. It could be due.

6. Check tire pressure and tread depth; replace badly worn tires.

7. Change your oil and oil filter. One of the most convenient ways to change your oil is using Amalie's Dispoil-Jug. The re-sealable plastic gallon container eliminates the mess in oil changes and provides a container for your old oil.

Check your owner's manual for the recommended SAE Grade for your car.

8. Check the freon level in your air conditioner and add freon and compressor oil as needed.

A springtime tuneup now can mean trouble-free summertime motoring for you.

Toney Penna Talks Golf

Swing weight measures a golf club's balance. It tells how much of a club's weight lies on either side of a fixed point on the shaft a specific distance from the grip end of a golf club. It's determined by using a specially designed scale.

Almost every component of a golf club affects swing weight. One of the most important items in selecting your correct swing weight is shaft flex.

Generally, the stronger and faster you swing, the stiffer shaft and higher swing weight you'll need. For example, the not-too-strong hitter may require a flexible shaft with D-O swing weight to get the ball in the air, while a powerful player can get loft with extra stiff shafts and D-5 or even higher swing weight.

Most men would use a D-2 or a D-3, which are in the middle of the scale.

Taking this into consideration, along with your height, arm length and the size grips you need, your pro can prescribe the right swing weight for you.

Mr. Penna, a former leading tour and golf pro, is the designer of the widely imitated MI irons and head of the Toney Penna Company, custom golf equipment manufacturing division of ATO Inc.

Dr. Buss close to MSA deal?

Bred in 'Marlboro' mold; role now sports tycoon!

LOS ANGELES

You must meet this cowboy enigmist doctor, who has become one of the more prosperous string of sports entrepreneurs in the United States of late.

This new owner of the Los Angeles Kings wears Levis and Western shirts to his office, has a Great Dane and once turned down an offer to appear as a cowboy in a Marlboro cigarette advertisement.

"It was three days for $1,000," remembered 46-year-old Dr. Jerry Buss, the real estate wizard, who has made millions investing in what surely has become a lucrative industry for him. "The numbers weren't right," Buss recalled of the Marlboro proposition.

Obviously the numbers were right for Buss, who was said to have made a purchase of the two Los Angeles franchises last month in what is believed to be the largest transaction in sports history.

Dr. Buss

Buss, who many figured would purchase the Indiana Pacers before their change of ownership and sale to Californian Sam Bassi in May, has been currently negotiating to purchase leasing rights to Market Square Arena.

His personal wealth has been estimated at $50 million and the real estate holdings of his California-based company at $500 million, Buss understands the value of numbers. He even describes himself as basically a mathematician. "Other people think in words, I think in numbers," jested in serious vains Dr. Buss.

Numbers and the desire to own a major league professional sports franchise were the motives behind Buss' decision to buyout Jack Kent Cooke in a complex $67.5 million deal that both parties confirmed May 29. Being the largest transaction of its kind in pro sports, it served to introduce a new management type into the sports establishment—a self-made millionaire who dresses the part of his background.

Born Jerry Hatten Buss on January 27, 1933 in Salt Lake City, Buss' early business career was spent as an operations research consultant and theoretical chemist for several aerospace firms. In recalling his decision to switch fields, he expressed apathy toward war, missiles and destruction. "I just wasn't cut out for it," he says.

And Frank Mariani, a co-worker, felt practically the same way. In January of 1958, the two formed a partnership and purchased their first piece of property—a 14-unit apartment house in Western Los Angeles. The partnership-to say mildly—flourished. Their concern was considered one of the real estate success stories of the 1960s.

Buss confirmed last week holdings of the company now total some 700 pieces of property in California, Arizona and Nevada. Aside from hotels and undeveloped pieces of land, the bulk of the holdings are in residential apartment buildings.

Buss' pride is considered one of his biggest personal assets. Call him Jerry Dr. Doctor, he says, but not Mister. "I spent a

Snooper's Teen Talk

Some of my Partners in Crime at Marshall tell me that the sharpest lady at their school is a young lady named Sabrina Mays. The name of Sabrina's boyfriend was not given but sources say that he feels very lucky to have a lady like Sabrina.

Dwight Coleman is hip to the fact that summer is coming on soon and it seems that he is trying to get as many ladies as humanly possible. Sources say that he already holds many of Indy's records for the most girlfriends in one year. The question now arises: Will Dwight Coleman still have the finesse next year to be a bigger player than this year? We will all have to wait until next year to find the answer.

lot of time changing it," he says of his academic background. Much of his early childhood was spent in the cowboy state of Wyoming, and California. He is a graduate of the University of Wyoming and received a master's degree and doctorate in physical chemistry from the University of Southern California.

Asked how he views himself as a professional sports owner, he replied: "I'm all for team work. I don't have any real secrets, but blending a Chris Evert, Nastase (Ili) and the Amritrajes brothers into a championship says something." He was referring to a few years back when he purchased the Los Angeles Strings of the World Team Tennis League. He promptly signed Evert, Nastase and the Amritrajes brothers to contracts and turned a franchise with the worst record in the league into champions.

It takes little brilliance to figure out he hopes to do the same with the Lakers and Kings!

However, the sloppy dancing served only as a distraction and proved that Arista obviously hasn't spent any time grooming the act for a successful debut tour. Many have criticized Motown for not putting its new act right on the road after a successful single or album, but all the while the label is polishing the act to hopefully leave a positive impression on concert goers, who, in turn, will insure that act's life.

Margolis, in an emotional closing argument to the jury, said that "Nobody, nobody would take all the money in the world to trade places with Georgia Hall."

He then asked the jurors to put themselves in Mrs. Hall's place, saying, "You jump out of bed and take a shower and start your day. Can you imagine when the highlight of every day is being hoisted out of bed?"

Margolis said that Hall was entitled to damages because he had "lost his wife, his lover, his friend and his playmate." Daniel told the jury that he did not know what a "fair and reasonable" damage amount should be, other than to say that the requested $12 million "would be too much."

GM contended that the accident was due to "driver error" and not the fault of the broken rear universal joint, the connection between the drive shaft and rear axle.

But the Halls' lawyers successfully argued at the liability portion of the trial that the joint broke and sent the car out of control as Mrs. Hall was driving to the bank at noontime on a clear day.

Expo's ninth run, under a theme honoring youth, will include exhibits from businesses and individuals which display black progress and culture. The Indianapolis will once again reflect upon its 83 years of documenting black gains and struggles, this year from booth 157.

Other Expo activities will include a breakfast and fashion show beginning at 9:30 a.m. July 7, an auto show within the exhibit area, and, of course, the Shower of Stars concert, which will play for the second straight year in Market Square Arena following the bulk of the day's activities. Expo's first disco dance contest will end with the state finals following the July 7 concert in the Convention Center.

Richardson recovering

"He's still pretty bruised up and sore and under a doctor's care."

That was the word Wednesday on veteran civil rights fighter and attorney Henry Richardson, Jr. as reported by his wife Roselyn.

Atty. Richardson, known for his flowing speech and anti-racist efforts, was struck by a car May 25 as he crossed Delaware Street from the City-County Building. After treatment at Wishard Memorial Hospital for an injured leg, he was released and has been confined to his home ever since.

Richardson's tenure on "the firing line" dates back to the era when he sought to stifle Ku Klux Klan activities, served two terms as a State Representative and helped mold the local NAACP chapter.

There was no word from his wife about when the 77-year-old barrister will be able to resume practice.

Church Events

BY WILLA THOMAS

This week we use as a meditation the thought for praying for others. May of us do offer prayer but, in the prayer we pray a selfish prayer. We must learn to pray for other people and then learn to pray our relatives and always putting others first.

If you want to pray for another person but you do not want your personal feelings to interfere with his desires, you can place him in God's care and keep and know that only good can come to him. If a dear one seems to need wisdom and good judgment you can place him in God's care and keep and know that his life will be in divine order and filled with happiness.

Perhaps there is a dear one who has lived a long life and now seems to want to make a change, to be released from life. How should you pray? You can place this dear one in God's care and keep, knowing that he or she is one with God, one with God's eternal life and light and love.

When you turn to God and ask for a blessing to be poured out, you can be sure that the perfect blessing will be given at the right time and in just the way it is needed.

Pray at all times in the Spirit.

— Eph. 6:18.

YOUTH WORKSHOPS THURS. & FRI.

JULY 5 & 6

10:00 A.M.-12:00 NOON
1:30 A.M.-3:30 P.M.

In keeping with the Theme "Youth and the Challenges of the 80's" Indiana Black Expo will present the following Youth Workshops, July 5 & 6, in the Indiana Convention Center. The Workshops will be presented two times in the morning (10:00 A.M. to 12:00 noon) and two times in the afternoon (1:30 to 3:30 P.M.) each day, so that participants are able to attend four within each day.

Workshops

1. VOCATIONAL TRAINING OPPORTUNITIES: Union Apprenticeship Programs, Indiana Vocational-Technical College. Courses offered, qualifications, requirements and fees. Financial Aide. Job opportunities after training.

Rationale: The majority of students do not go to College, but into the workforce; without Saleable Skills, opportunities are becoming extremely limited to law paying, menial jobs. Increasingly, Skilled Jobs are paying more, often exceeding some positions which require a College Degree.

2. HIGHER EDUCATION: Information on grants, scholarships, entrance requirements. Job opportunities after graduation.

Rationale: Students planning to go College need to have information on what subjects to take in High School, Financial Aide available and what kinds of Degrees are in demand.

3. HEALTH: Special emphasis needs to be placed on Sex Education and Venereal Disease which is at epidemic level. Morality and Questioning of Values are not the object of this Workshop, but factual information needs to be presented.

4. SUCCESS IN CAREERS: Panel of successful blacks who tell how they got where they are (education, training, first job-promotions, etc.). Should include at least one business person giving some information on building successful business.

Rationale: Many Black Youth have few Human Models of success in their experience. This panel, if comprised of the right persons, can say to young people that they can achieve.

5. GROOMING: Grooming, dress, make-up, hygiene; should be attractive event for teenagers if it includes demonstrations. Should include preparation for a job, school and social activities.

6. LEGAL: Criminal Offenses and Penalties, children's rights, students rights and responsibilities. Rationale: Young People need to know that certain actions are criminal offenses and be aware of what the penalties are under law. In addition children have certain rights under the law, and students need to be informed on the issue of school suspension and expulsion. Chairperson: Nancy Shaw
